

OUR PARTNERSHIP

Our partnership

Canada and UNFPA are leading the global response to technology-facilitated gender-based violence with the launch of the first global programme to make all spaces safe for women and girls, ensuring they can benefit from technology free from violence. Canada is also championing sexual and reproductive health and rights for all, supporting the launch of the world's largest comprehensive sexuality education programme in 2024, set to reach 7.5 million youth.

Allies amid adversity

In the onset of a crisis, women and girls face immense challenges. In 2024, Canada reaffirmed its crucial allyship to vulnerable women and girls in sub-Saharan Africa, delivering life-saving humanitarian aid via UNFPA. As a top ten humanitarian donor, Canada continues to demonstrate its commitment to alleviating suffering, promoting resilience and providing sexual and reproductive health and gender-based violence services to women and girls worldwide.

Core collaboration

Canada has been a generous and long-standing supporter of UNFPA, providing indispensable core resources that lay the groundwork for our mission and enabling UNFPA to promptly and efficiently address the pressing needs of women and girls globally.
